

CAPRIVI QUIT.

Likewise Does the President of the Ministerial Council.

Dr. Miquel, Finance Minister, Appointed President of Council.

Either Prince Hohenzollern or Count Waldersee Will Succeed Von Caprivi—Difference Between Caprivi and Count Von Eulenburg Was the Cause.

BERLIN, Oct. 27.—Chancellor Von Caprivi has handed his resignation to the emperor. Count Zu Eulenburg, president of the ministerial council, has also resigned. Dr. Miquel, Prussian finance minister, has been appointed president of the council, and Prince Von Hohenzollern-Schillingsfurst, governor of Alsace-Lorraine, has been offered the chancellorship.

Before offering the chancellorship to Prince Hohenzollern, Emperor William consulted with the envoys from Bavaria, Wurtemberg, Saxony and Baden. It is reported that Prince Hohenzollern declined the office, owing to his age.

The emperor has summoned Gen. Count Waldersee, the political soldier, who was conspicuous in the final intrigues against Bismarck. The general inference is that he intends to make him Caprivi's successor. Should Waldersee become chancellor, the office of Prussian premier probably would be given him shortly, and thus the division of the two posts, which was effected at the time of the school bill crisis, would be ended. There is a rumor that Gen. Bronsart von Schellendorf is a candidate for the Prussian premiership and the chancellorship. Either of these generals would be acceptable to the conservatives, who have become totally estranged from the government under the Caprivi regime.

The immediate cause of Chancellor Von Caprivi's resignation is not entirely clear. It is known, however, that the differences between him and Count Botho zu Eulenburg had grown too sharp to be ignored or compromised.

Caprivi at first was strongly opposed to severe steps against the social democrats and anarchists, while Eulenburg favored extreme measures. Under pressure from the emperor, the chancellor is said to have yielded several points early in the week, but his master only got him into trouble with the federal ministers, in whose council he presided Friday.

Several ministers opposed his proposal that the reichstag amend the penal code so as to deal more severely with the socialists. The individual states, they said, should be left to legislate within their own borders for the suppression of the social democracy and anarchy.

RETALIATION.
Germany Will Commence by Prohibiting American Cattle and Beef.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—The German ambassador formally notified the secretary of state that, in consequence of the introduction of Texas fever by means of two shipments from New York, the importation of fresh beef and cattle from the United States to Germany would shortly be prohibited.

It is thought that this marks the commencement of a policy of commercial retaliation against the United States on account of the discrimination against German beet sugar in the new tariff law. The department of agriculture insists that it is impossible that cattle affected with Texas fever or any similar complaint could have been shipped from New York as claimed by the German officials.

THE ENTOMBED MINERS.

Not a Sound Heard, and It Is Feared They Are All Dead.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 27.—Thursday afternoon a sandstone caving on the fourth level of Shaft No. 1, at the Peabody mines, gave way, entombing several miners.

Following is a correct list of the entombed men: Thomas Penglase, Wm. Oliver, Samuel Husband, George Wilcox, Stephen Allen, Wm. Baird, Geo. Poren, John Thomas, George Rickards, Peter Hellberg and John Farrell.

Peter Pascoe, the shift boss, the only man who is known to have escaped uninjured, says that the accident was caused by running water cutting away the sandstone capping in a room 100 feet in height on the third level. This immense mass of rock weighing hundreds of tons crashed down through the level, carrying away everything to the fourth level on which the men were working. He heard the crash of broken timbers and just managed to make his escape. To cut a road through this wreckage to the room in which the men are entombed is a work of difficulty.

The walls have to be timbered as the work progresses in order to avoid another fall of ground. As many eager men as could be worked to advantage have been at work since the disaster occurred, but only fifteen feet have been cut through, and there remains fifteen feet more to cut through, which will take until Friday night. Although only fifteen feet away, not the faintest sound has been heard that would indicate that any of the entombed miners are alive, and the rescuers expect to find them dead.

COST OF ROYALTY.

The Bill for the Queen's Few Hours' Sojourn in Manchester.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The cost of the queen's visit to Manchester upon the occasion of the opening of the Manchester ship canal has just been made public, and as a consequence a great hue and cry has gone up from certain classes regarding the wanton extravagance of Royalty. The report of the auditor of Manchester gives the total expenditure on the occasion of her majesty's sojourn of a few hours in the city as reaching the enormous sum of $31,215. Among the items in the account are: Four fancy boxes of bon bons, fondants, chocolates, etc., for the royal children, $20; vegetables and fruits to the total of $250; three live turtles, $50; cigars and cigarettes, $60; stabling and keep of the queen's horses, $115; board and lodging for sixteen members of the royal household staff, $350.

CLOSED BY SMALLPOX.

Secretary Smith Will Have the Interior Department Building Thoroughly Fumigated.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27.—Another case of smallpox was developed Friday morning. James I. Parker, of Indiana, a law clerk in the division where the other cases were reported, was the victim. Secretary Smith issued directions Friday to have the department closed Saturday. This action was taken before the secretary was aware of the new case. He said that the order to close was on account of the fumigation of several rooms in the building, which was very disagreeable to persons employed in the building. It is expected that in consequence of the discovery of the new case the department will be closed Friday afternoon, as each fresh case becomes traceable to contact with persons employed in the department. The patients in the hospital are reported as doing well.

Battle Between Chinese and Japs Across Yalu River.

The Chinese Troops Fought Fiercely and Stubbornly.

Celestials Compelled to Fall Back in Great Disorder—Their Loss Is Not Known—Japanese Lose Five Officers and Ninety Men Killed and Wounded.

CHEMULPO, Oct. 27.—Dispatches from Wi-Ju, dated midnight, give additional details of the battle fought between the Chinese and Japanese across the Yalu river. Gen. Nodzu, the Japanese chief of staff, it appears, succeeded in getting the main body of the Japanese army across the Yalu river without mishap before daylight on Thursday. Then Col. Sato was sent forward at the head of a flying column on a reconnoitering expedition, and he discovered the enemy occupying a fortified position near the village of Fushang, on the right bank of the Yalu. In spite of the fact that he had no artillery at his disposal, Col. Sato immediately commenced an attack upon the Chinese, and a fierce fight followed. The Chinese fought desperately and stubbornly. The attack began at 10 o'clock in the morning and lasted until noon, when the Chinese began wavering, broke and eventually retired in great disorder, falling back upon Kuliencas.

The troops commanded by Col. Sato, after the Chinese had retired, set to work upon the demolition of the fortifications of Fushang. Inside the fortifications they found 200 Chinese dead. The Japanese also captured a number of prisoners, among whom was a Chinese officer, who stated that the position was held by eighteen battalions of Chinese troops. The Japanese escorting their prisoners, then marched in the direction of Gen. Nodzu's main body, with the intention of rejoining it.

The number of Chinese wounded is not known. The Japanese lost five officers and ninety men killed and wounded.

Later dispatches said that the Chinese outposts were falling back upon Kuliencas, where it is expected that the only really determined stand of the Chinese in Manchuria would be made. It is understood that Field Marshal Yamagata's plans are completed in every detail for inflicting what he hopes will turn out to be a crushing blow upon the Chinese.

IN A SWAMP.

Three Bad Tramps Surrounded by Armed Men—May Be Lynched if Caught.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Oct. 27.—Policeman Marcellus was seriously shot Thursday afternoon by a tramp, while the officer was arresting three of them in a store in the east end. After firing twenty shots in the store the tramps took to the woods. Aid was summoned from the city and 150 men armed with rifles started in pursuit with instructions to bring them back dead or alive. The woods are wild and swampy. Darkness favored the escape of the tramps, and most of the searching party returned at 7 o'clock with no hopes of discovering the men Thursday night. A few were left there on picket duty. There was considerable talk of lynching the tramps Thursday night if they were captured. A gang of eight of them has been creating disturbances in the eastern part of the city for several days, and three of them were sent to jail Thursday. The other five are now supposed to be in the swamps.

A Chicago Fire.

CHICAGO, Oct. 27.—The north half of the mammoth brick warehouse belonging to the Wm. The building housed a large amount of hemp and completed machinery, and its contents are a total loss. The loss on the building is placed at $15,000, and on the contents $175,000, partly covered by insurance. The origin of the fire is unknown.

The Monk!

By MATTHEW G. LEWIS,
(MONK LEWIS.)

Mr. Lewis was a member of the British Parliament, and his book became so popular in England a hundred years ago that it gained for him the title of "Monk Lewis."

It is a fine piece of classic composition, and after being out of print for many years it has been republished from the original text.

It is far superior to "Maria Monk" and books of that character.
